

Mechanism: shelf freshening lightens the whole column, so convection produces water too light to reach the AABW threshold

